Vaasa International Talents

programme for international degree students

Background

Five higher education institutions in Vaasa

- University of Vaasa
- VAMK University of Applied Sciences
- Novia University of Applied Sciences
- Åbo Akademi University
- Hanken School of Economics

want to make it easier for international degree students to integrate into the Finnish job market. Financially supported by the City of Vaasa, the initiative called Vaasa International Talents is a bridge between international degree students and the employers in the region.

What, where and when?

In practice, this initiative will be run as a programme during the autumn term 2022 and spring term 2023, in Vaasa. You need to apply to the programme. Since the programme activities are planned take to place on site in Vaasa, you need to be physically present in order to be able to participate.

The aim is to provide all programme participants with various possibilities to develop their Finnish working life skills and to connect with regional companies and other actors.

The programme will financially partly cover the internship salary of a student who finds an internship place. In addition, you will get excellent possibilities to network with fellow programme participants across degree programmes and higher education institutions.

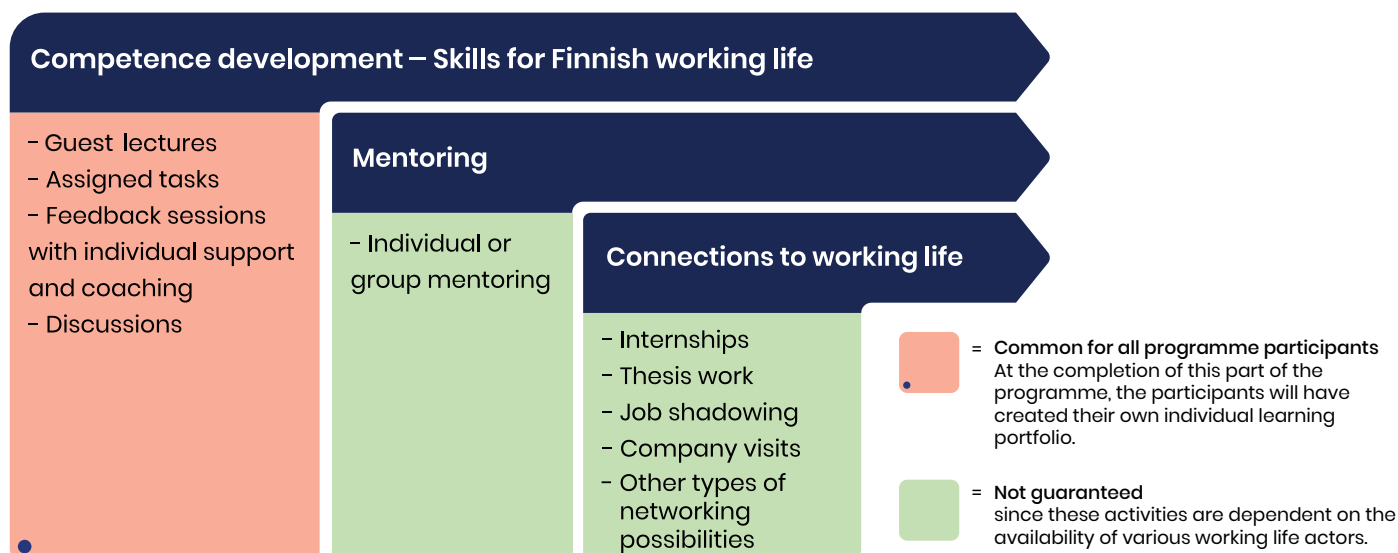

The success of the programme from your personal perspective will largely depend on your active participation, initiative and contribution.

All programme participants who have completed the programme will at the end of the programme receive a certificate of participation.

The programme consists of three focus areas:

- 1 Competence development – Skills for Finnish working life
- 2 Mentoring
- 3 Connections to working life

Please note that the programme is not part of your individual study plan and will therefore not automatically give you any credit points. The possibility to earn credit points from programme participation will be entirely a matter between you and your degree programme.

1 The Competence development – Skills for Finnish working life part of the programme consists of two modules. It equips the participants with must-know facts about Finnish and local working life and its expectations on job applicants and employees. This part kicks off end of October 2022. It will include

- guest lectures on different topics
- individual coaching
- feedback on your job application materials
- simulation of a job interview
- group discussions
- assigned tasks which will support your personal and professional development

Time investment needed?

The estimated required time investment in the lectures and individual coaching is roughly 25 hours. In addition, you will need to reserve time between the sessions for keeping a journal of your learning and for work on your job application materials and other related assigned tasks. Though some exceptions might occur, all sessions are planned to take place on site on Wednesdays after 16:00 hrs. At the end of Module 1, you will need to hand in your learning journal for review in order to secure a seat on Module 2.

Additional possible tools offered for your competence development:

2 Individual or group mentoring

- This will be offered based on the indicated needs of the selected programme participants. Since the availability of mentors is a prerequisite, we cannot guarantee that all students' wishes can be met. However, by actively participating in the programme, you will get the tools and support to help you find your own mentors.

3 Connections to working life

The following activities will vary from participant to participant,

- internships and partial funding for these
- thesis work
- job shadowing
- company visits
- other types of networking possibilities

We cannot guarantee that you will get any of these possibilities through the programme, since they will be dependent on the needs and availability of the working life actors. What we can guarantee, however, is that by actively participating in the programme, you will be able to find your own connections to working life actors. Amongst other things, if you manage to find yourself an internship position which fulfills certain criteria, the programme will financially partly support your internship salary.
